

Mechanism of Mutarotation

96

The mechanism is still uncertain but according to Lowry in 1925 mutarotation was not possible without the presence of an amphoteric (base and acid) solvent like water. A concerted attack by base and acid produces the open chain structure which recloses to anomeric form.

